

Master Anger is a great program to work towards if you want to fine tune your skills and all around fishing knowledge. Over the past few years of working towards master angler fish I have spent countless hours researching. My goal has always been to learn as much as possible and see if what I learned would lead me to catch the big fish.

This year I approached the Master Angler program a little different than last year. After reaching the Hall of Fame last year I decided to try and catch some different species of MA fish, rather than try and repeat all the same species as the past year. This year I was able to add 5 different species to my total list of MA fish, and even though I'm graduating and moving on from the master angler program. I will probably still compare my fish to the MA size list. I also hope to help some of the upcoming Menasha students with their goals in the MA program.

I'd like to thank my parents for encouraging me to keep doing what I love to do. A special thanks to my many mentors and friends who have helped me along the way. And also a thank you to WIFA for the many opportunities they offer students.

Thanks
